BERWYN –Deborah Enea, a partner in Troutman Pepper's Corporate Finance Practice, has been selected to serve as the next editor of LexisNexis' Commercial Finance Guide. The publication, which provides extensive coverage of commercial financing from basic secured loans to more sophisticated, complex structures, will be released on June 18. Part I deals with secured lending transactions, part II addresses specialized collateral, and part III analyzes special legal and financial considerations.

"I am honored to be named the next editor of LexisNexis' Commercial Finance Guide," Enea said. "I look forward to contributing to the guide's comprehensive coverage of commercial financial products. My goal is to provide readers with valuable insights that can help them navigate the complexities of financial transactions and make informed decisions."

A seasoned legal practitioner, Enea focuses her practice on corporate finance transactions. Her experience spans various structures (broadly syndicated, club and bilateral financings) across all levels of the capital structure including senior financing, mezzanine financing, SBIA lending, unitranche, Holdco PIK financing, second lien financing, acquisition financing, and other secured lending transactions. She has a proven track record of representing a diverse range of parties in financial services matters, including agents, nonbank and direct lenders, and corporate borrowers. Enea's practice has a particular emphasis on advising private equity sponsors and their portfolio companies on matters in a full spectrum of industries.

Consistently recognized as a top-tier national practice, Troutman Pepper's corporate attorneys regularly handle transactions ranging in size from tens of millions of dollars to multibillion dollars. Core areas of service include private equity, venture capital, mergers and acquisitions (including cross-border transactions and corporate carve-outs), capital markets and corporate finance, corporate governance, and securities laws compliance. The firm also has particular expertise in advising clients on matters involving fund formation and fund management.
