NEW YORK – Troutman Pepper Partner Ghillaine Reid, co-lead of the firm's Securities Investigations + Enforcement Practice Group, has been selected to serve on Law360's Securities Editorial Advisory Board, which provides feedback on Law360's coverage and expert insight on how to best shape future coverage.

Reid's practice focuses on government and securities regulatory investigations, financial services litigation, commercial litigation, and corporate compliance. She represents clients in complex securities, financial services, and commercial litigation matters, in federal and state courts and has successfully defended clients in large-scale arbitration proceedings, both through FINRA and the American Arbitration Association.

"I am looking forward to serving on Law360's Securities Editorial Advisory Board," Reid said. "The securities landscape is constantly evolving, and this board presents a unique opportunity to discuss major trends affecting clients with other authorities in the space."

Before entering private practice, Reid worked in government service as a Branch Chief and Staff Attorney in the New York Regional Office of the Securities & Exchange Commission's Division of Enforcement. While at the SEC, she investigated and litigated a wide range of securities enforcement matters.

Troutman Pepper's Securities Investigations + Enforcement Practice Group guides clients through all stages of securities enforcement proceedings. The team represents clients in a broad cross-section of investigations by various governmental and regulatory bodies – including the Securities & Exchange Commission (SEC), the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA), the U.S. Department of Justice, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, state securities regulators across the country, state attorneys general, and other organizations.
