PHILADELPHIA – Joan Arnold, a partner and leader of Troutman Pepper's Tax Practice Group, has been recognized in Lexology's Who's Who Legal \(WWL\) report in the Corporate Tax category. The report highlights the leading lawyers in the field, offering a comprehensive overview of top legal professionals.

The WWL research methodology begins with qualitative analysis, gathering first-hand experiences and feedback from corporate counsel, clients, and private practitioners, which is then supported by continuous quantitative analysis of relevant data points. This rigorous evaluation framework, refined over 25 years, ensures that recommendations are both corroborated by detailed data and reflective of market feedback, providing a reliable market assessment for selecting external counsel or experts.

In her practice, Arnold is a widely recognized authority on federal and international income tax and chair of the firm's Tax & Benefits Practice Group. She leverages decades of experience to structure domestic and international transactions for maximum tax advantage, and to resolve the toughest tax planning challenges faced by corporate and private equity fund clients.

Arnold has extensive experience helping clients navigate the tax aspects of their domestic and cross-border mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, stock offerings, and other corporate finance matters. She regularly advises on corporate and partnership taxation, corporate and private investment fund formation, and tax planning. Arnold is particularly experienced in tax issues related to private equity fund structures and transactions.

Troutman Pepper's Tax Practice Group provides sophisticated, practical, and business-sensitive advice on tax issues that arise in planning and executing complex transactions and business operations. Troutman Pepper partners with clients to create and execute efficient tax strategies for all their business needs, keeping in mind all the relevant regulatory and enforcement concerns.
