ATLANTA – Two Troutman Pepper attorneys – Stefanie H. Jackman and Jonathan P. Floyd – will serve on Consumer Relations Consortium's \(CRC's\) 2023 Legal Advisory Board \(LAB\), which is limited to 10 law firms and 14 attorneys. Throughout the year, the LAB serves as a legal resource to the CRC membership and assists in fulfilling the mission of promoting forward-thinking approaches to the issues raised by regulatory policy and technology innovation in the accounts receivable industry.

Jackman, a partner in Troutman Pepper's nationally recognized Consumer Financial Services Practice Group, devotes her practice to assisting financial services institutions facing state and federal government investigations and examinations, counseling them on complex compliance issues, as well as defending them in individual and class action lawsuits.

Floyd focuses his practice on financial services litigation, representing clients in class actions and business disputes in both federal and state courts and handling arbitrations arising under the Federal Arbitration Act.

Founded in 2013, CRC is a membership group focused on collections compliance, legal strategy, and regulatory policy. The group comprises more than 60 national companies representing the diverse ecosystem of debt collection including creditors, data/technology providers, and compliance-oriented debt collectors.

Troutman Pepper has more than 200 attorneys who regularly advise financial services providers and is nationally recognized for its prowess in the space. A two-time winner of Law360's Consumer Protection Practice Group of the Year award, Troutman Pepper's Consumer Financial Services team helps clients resolve litigation, provides regulatory guidance, and assists with investigations and actions initiated by federal and state government agencies. The firm is a recognized thought leader in the space and keeps clients up to date via its Consumer Financial Services Law Monitor.
