ATLANTA – Troutman Pepper Partners Tiffany Bracewell and Mary Weeks have been elected to serve as treasurer and member-at-large, respectively, of the Atlanta Bar Association Litigation Section Board of Directors for the 2023-2024 bar year. As engaged board members, they will help to lead the Litigation Section and advance its efforts to promote professional development, foster relationships, and further community engagement and service.

Bracewell, who has served as one of the Section's Board members-at-large since late 2021 and was elected treasurer this term, represents plaintiffs and defendants in a wide range of criminal and civil matters, with a special focus on white collar crime. She frequently represents clients under investigation by the Department of Justice, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and the Federal Trade Commission, and has advised clients facing claims of bribery; price-fixing and bid-rigging; securities fraud, wire fraud, government contracting fraud, and tax fraud; violations of the False Claims Act, Stark Law, and Anti-Kickback Statute; and use of deceptive business practices.

Weeks, who was named member-at-large, represents corporations as well as their directors and officers in complex commercial, shareholder derivative, and securities class action litigation, in addition to handling company's books and records demands, and special committee or other regulatory investigations. Clients turn to her for guidance when facing allegations of all types of shareholder disputes, including allegations of fraud, breach of fiduciary duty, and corporate governance concerns.

The Litigation Section of the Atlanta Bar Association is the largest section by membership and is comprised of litigators across the spectrum of practices. It includes plaintiff's lawyers, defense lawyers, mediators, and dispute resolution practitioners, as well as judges from several different courts.
