It's official! The Unauthorized Access podcast has returned, now with a slightly different spin. Our monthly podcast will spotlight the human aspect of cybersecurity, bringing you closer to the remarkable personalities shaping the industry. In our latest episode, Troutman Pepper Partner Sadia Mirza chats with Joe Tarraf, chief delivery officer at Surefire Cyber. They discuss Joe's journey to cybersecurity, the crucial role of communication in delivering services, and his favorite New York City restaurant. Also tune in to find out if Sadia genuinely misses Kamran, and who Joe considers to be one of the best human beings in the industry. Sadia certainly echoed his sentiment.
