James Stevens, co-leader of Troutman Pepper's Financial Services Industry Group, was quoted in the August 22, 2023 S&P Global Market Intelligence article, "US Banks Dash Back to Dealmaking as Their M&A Appetite Returns".

"We're seeing a lot of activity where people are talking about deals that maybe they talked about before, and they're reenergizing conversations or new parties are coming together," James Stevens, a partner at Troutman Pepper Hamilton Sanders LLP, said in an interview.

"Most people are accepting the reality that something that was worth whatever it was worth 18 months ago is now worth a different, lower amount than it was," Stevens said.
