

Articles + Publications | August 25, 2025

US Data Centre Boom Drives Energy Investments Focused on Resilience

WRITTEN BY

Bill Swanstrom

The US energy sector is undergoing a significant shift, driven by surging electricity demand from the rapid expansion of digital infrastructure. In particular, the rise of generative artificial intelligence (AI) is fueling an unprecedented increase in power needs — and private equity investors are viewing this demand as a source of confidence for investing in certain US energy companies, assets, sectors, and services.

Click here to read the full article on Enlit.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Energy