Craig Kline, a partner and co-founder of Troutman Pepper's Renewable Energy Practice Group, is quoted in the Law360 article, "Why the Ukraine War Won't Move the Clean Energy Needle."

Perhaps the Russia-Ukraine war will push Congress to enact those tax credit changes. Until then, the industry will make do with what's already on the books, said Craig Kline, the co-founder of Troutman Pepper's renewable energy practice.

"It's still a good statute, people are still transacting," Kline said. "It's all you can do."
