April 13 – 14, 2021

Troutman Pepper is proud to sponsor the Workspace Conference – The Next Normal, hosted by Life Sciences Pennsylvania, on April 13-14, 2021.

As the world begins to shift into the “next normal,” the Workspace Conference – The Next Normal will equip employers and business leaders with the tools to best serve their employees while continuing to grow their organization. This two-day conference will cover topics from space and timing, financial and legal risks, to employer considerations for health and safety and coordinating communications.

On April 14 at 12:00 p.m. Troutman Pepper partner Erin Whaley will lead a fireside chat with Dr. Arthur Caplan, Mitty Professor of Bioethics, NYU Grossman School of Medicine, on the ethical debate around vaccinations.
