Troutman Pepper Locke Partner Peter Jeydel will participate in World Salon's upcoming Digital Fireside Series, "US-China Trade War: Redefining the US-China Relationship."

The event brings together trade experts, policy leaders, and business strategists to examine how the U.S.–China trade relationship is being reshaped, and what it means for the rest of the world. Panelists will explore key themes including technology controls, sanctions, and the evolving role of global institutions like the WTO. More importantly, the discussion will look ahead—asking whether the world's two largest economies can find a sustainable framework for coexistence, or if the coming decade will cement a new era of economic rivalry.
