OVERVIEW

Alex is an associate in the firm's Business Litigation practice. As a summer associate, Alex gained experience in various practice areas through exposure to complex multidistrict cases, class actions, and single-case litigations. He understands clients' businesses and their industries, which allows him to assist in developing strategies that help clients avoid unwanted disputes in the future, while tackling any ongoing matters.

Prior to joining the firm, Alex received his law degree from the University of Georgia School of Law, where he was an articles editor of the Georgia Journal of International and Comparative Law. He also received his bachelor's degree in psychology from the University of Texas.
