OVERVIEW

Brett represents pharmaceutical and medical device companies in complex litigation, and is particularly experienced in cases involving claims of product liability and antitrust. He handles all aspects of litigation, including discovery, motion practice, and appellate briefing.

In addition to his pharmaceutical practice, Brett also assists and advises NCAA Division I conferences and educational institutions on matters relating to the compensation for use of student athletes' name, image, and likeness (NIL).

Brett maintains a robust pro bono practice, representing clients in immigration proceedings and probate matters while also advising veterans' organizations on requests for information from the federal government.

REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

- Assisted in securing the dismissal of all claims against a medical device manufacturer on appeal. The case resulted in a voluntary dismissal with prejudice.
