Brian leads clients in the insurance, financial services, and health care industries through their most important regulatory and transactional matters, including mergers and acquisitions, corporate and structured finance, and cutting-edge insurtech strategies.

OVERVIEW

With a focus on corporate transactions, mergers and acquisitions, and regulatory compliance, Brian serves a diverse clientele in the insurance, financial services, and health care industries. His clients include insurance companies, insurance holding companies, managing general agents, insurance agencies, third-party administrators, banks, financial institutions, investment banks, and reinsurance companies.

Brian manages regulatory challenges while fostering innovation. His proactive approach helps clients stay ahead of regulatory changes, leveraging opportunities in areas such as digital insurance, blockchain/distributed ledger technology, and artificial intelligence in insurance.

REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

Transactional Matters

- Represented a leading global insurance company in its $1.5 billion acquisition of a U.S.-based insurance holding company.
- Advised a major financial services firm in the $2 billion sale of its life insurance and annuity business.
- Guided a health care services company through a $500 million merger with a competitor, creating one of the largest entities in the sector.

Regulatory Matters

- Assisted a top insurance company in navigating complex regulatory challenges related to the implementation of blockchain technology in policy administration.
- Provided strategic counsel to a fintech startup on compliance with state and federal regulations for a new digital insurance product.
- Advised a multinational corporation on regulatory issues concerning the use of artificial intelligence in underwriting processes.

Litigation Matters

- Successfully defended an insurance company in a high-stakes class action lawsuit involving alleged violations of consumer protection laws.
- Represented a financial institution in a landmark case that set a precedent for the treatment of digital signatures in insurance contracts.
- Achieved a favorable settlement for a health care provider in a dispute over reimbursement rates with a major insurance carrier.
