OVERVIEW

Christopher brings extensive experience in corporate law, focusing on mergers and acquisitions, emerging businesses, and ongoing corporate affairs. He guides buyers and sellers through acquisitions across diverse industries, including technology, media, hospitality, health care, real estate development and brokerage, and consumer products. Christopher handles post-acquisition management, arbitration, and mediation related to indemnification and price adjustments.

Christopher supports entrepreneurs and emerging businesses in connection with organizational and capital-raising activities. He assists with entity selection, technology transfers, product distribution, and financing transactions. Christopher's clients range from tech startups to biotech firms, many of which have grown into public companies or have been acquired.

Christopher also provides comprehensive legal advice on corporate governance, equity and debt offerings, shareholder disputes, and international operations. He represents private equity firms, foreign-owned businesses, and public companies in various strategic investments and compliance matters.
