Coby's clients trust him to handle complex corporate transactions with a clear understanding of their business goals. With particular experience in domestic and cross-border mergers and acquisitions, he helps clients close deals creatively while mitigating risk.

OVERVIEW

From family owned businesses to NYSE-listed chemical companies, Coby's varied clients count on his results-focused, problem-solving approach to corporate transactions.

In his 20-plus years of practice, Coby has worked with his clients to help them complete a variety of domestic and international transactions, including many acquisitions, divestitures, and joint ventures in the chemical industry; formation of international joint ventures in the health care and security services industries; and purchases and sales of family owned businesses.

Coby also assists clients with corporate reorganizations and private placements and advises clients with respect to general corporate law issues.
