Dale's extensive litigation experience defending high-stakes class action lawsuits makes him a trusted advocate in both trial and appellate courts across Florida and throughout the U.S.

OVERVIEW

Dale focuses on complex and class action lawsuits at both the trial and appellate levels. He represents a wide variety of clients, such as developers, health insurance companies, academic institutions, beauty retailers, and financial institutions. Dale's practice spans business litigation, construction, financial services litigation, labor and employment, health and managed care litigation, and securities litigation.

Dale's clients benefit from his vast experience in federal and state courts throughout Florida, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit, and across the country. He handles business litigation and dispute resolution, including complex commercial contract disputes, deceptive trade practices, breach of fiduciary duty, fraud, and civil theft.

Dale defends companies against claims under the TCPA, FDCPA, FCRA, FDUTPA, and other state consumer protection laws. He also defends businesses in cases involving overtime and minimum wage laws, whistleblower statutes, ADA accessibility, unfair competition, sexual harassment, and age and gender discrimination claims.

Dale's construction law practice includes representing owners, contractors, and suppliers in litigation and contract negotiations, addressing issues such as lien foreclosure, payment bond claims, and construction defects. He also regularly represents health insurance companies in provider disputes brought in both arbitration and litigation, arising out of alleged breach of contract, fraud, and other disputes.
