OVERVIEW

Daron is a seasoned appellate advocate with a robust practice in regulatory compliance and business litigation. He has played a pivotal role in several landmark cases before the Texas Supreme Court, particularly those involving home equity loans under article XVI, section 50(a)(6) of the Texas Constitution. Daron frequently argues before the U.S. Circuit Courts of Appeals and state courts of appeals, representing clients, including mortgage servicers, national banks, and credit reporting agencies, in complex appellate matters.

Daron's regulatory compliance work is extensive, advising forward and reverse mortgage lenders on federal and state statutory and regulatory requirements. He assists clients in developing new loan products, creating compliant loan documents and disclosures, and revising existing documents to adapt to regulatory changes. Daron also supports lenders during federal and state regulatory investigations.

Daron's litigation experience includes defending national mortgage servicers in lender liability claims and representing commercial loan creditors in high-stakes recovery suits.
