Heryka advises clients as they navigate the challenges of complex litigation disputes, compliance issues, and government enforcement actions. With experience across a wide range of key issues, she provides strategic and proactive advice that helps clients understand and navigate risk.

OVERVIEW

Heryka is a first-chair litigator who guides clients through pre-filing disputes, litigation, arbitrations, investigations, enforcement, and regulatory matters. She represents clients in federal, state, and administrative courts throughout all procedural phases, including dispositive motions and trials. Heryka has experience defending a range of matters from single plaintiff to class action litigation.

Heryka also serves as her clients' go-to regulatory counsel, advising them on compliance issues as well as state and federal government investigations, attorneys general actions, and enforcement proceedings.

As a native Spanish speaker, Heryka also handles diverse matters for clients serving Spanish-speaking customers in the U.S. and multinational clients with operations in Latin America and Spain. Her language skills enable her to conduct interviews and review documents in Spanish without third-party interpreters. Heryka's work includes advising on state foreign-language disclosure laws, fair lending, and UDAAP, as well as conducting bilingual internal investigations and operations reviews for multinational companies. She also has significant experience with issues related to marketing and offering products and services in non-English languages.

Heryka is committed to her pro bono practice and regularly volunteers with nonprofit organizations. She is also actively involved with the Mecklenburg Bar Association's committees and programming.
