OVERVIEW

Jacqueline focuses her practice on health care and life sciences litigation. Based in Philadelphia, Jacqueline handles matters from pre-suit investigation through trial. She develops case strategy, manages discovery, works with experts, and prepares witnesses for testimony.

Before joining Troutman, Jacqueline represented hospitals, health systems, behavioral health facilities, long-term care providers, and other health care organizations in complex litigation, including medical professional liability and other health care-related disputes.

Alongside her litigation work, Jacqueline also has experience advising clients on data privacy and cybersecurity matters, including HIPAA compliance, data breach investigations, and cybersecurity incident response.

Jacqueline is a Certified Information Privacy Professional (CIPP/US).
