Josh has a nearly two-decade track record of achieving favorable outcomes for companies facing their most complex and high-stakes litigation, appeals, and government investigations. He works closely with clients to identify winning strategies aligned with clients' business needs.

OVERVIEW

A partner in the firm's Privacy + Cyber team and a Certified Information Privacy Professional, Josh has extensive experience in data breach and other privacy litigation, including serving as defense counsel for a cloud software company in one of the largest data breach multidistrict litigation proceedings in the U.S. Josh also regularly represents data brokers and other data and technology companies facing threatened or filed litigation and arbitrations and advises these companies on strategies for minimizing litigation risk. His experience includes litigating FCRA, DPPA, CPPA, judicial privacy (Daniel's Law), and numerous other statutory and common law claims in state and federal trial and appellate courts around the U.S.

Outside of his privacy practice, Josh has deep knowledge of the financial services industry and regularly represents banks, mortgage companies, auto and credit card lenders, and other financial services industry clients facing complex litigation, mass arbitration, and government enforcement matters. Josh also has significant experience in First Amendment matters, including representing religious organizations in litigation involving the Free Exercise Clause, RLUIPA and RFRA, as well as in defending media clients in defamation and intellectual property litigation and counseling faith-based nonprofit organizations.

A versatile litigator, Josh is comfortable in any forum. He has handled numerous appellate arguments as well as trial-level work in courts around the country. Josh also has extensive regulatory enforcement experience, includes proceedings brought by the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Department of Justice, and numerous state attorneys general. He further assists clients with legislative lobbying and media strategies, internal investigations, responding to MRAs, developing and implementing remediation plans, and compliance programs.

Josh is active in the community and has served as a board member of several local nonprofit organizations. He is committed to pro bono work and represents clients in immigration matters, landlord-tenant disputes, custody and guardian ad litem proceedings, Criminal Justice Act appointments, and as amicus curiae in the U.S. Supreme Court.

REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

- Served as one of the court-appointed lead defense counsel for a large cloud software company in multidistrict litigation proceedings; successfully obtained the dismissal of a number of the plaintiffs' key claims and denial of class certification.
- Obtained the denial of class certification of FCRA claims on behalf of a data broker client.
- Obtained dismissal of putative class claims against a healthcare provider sued in connection with a large data breach.
- Obtained the dismissal of putative FCRA and DPPA class action claims on behalf of a data broker client and affirmance of the decision in the Eighth Circuit.
- Representing numerous clients in litigation filed under New Jersey's Daniel's Law.
- Represented a financial services software company in numerous putative class actions filed arising from a data breach.
- Defended a retail company in multiple putative class actions arising from successful phishing of employee data.
- Successfully resolved putative class privacy claims for a data broker client.
- Successfully resolved putative class action claims against nationwide auto lender relating to repossession practices.
- Represented a religious organization in connection with dozens of lawsuits filed under statute of limitations revival law, including constitutional litigation and arguing multiple cases in the North Carolina Supreme Court.
- Defended a national bank in a mass arbitration proceeding involving approximately 4,000 claims asserted before the American Arbitration Association; successfully obtained a complete victory of all claims in first-filed "test case," and obtained dismissal of numerous others based on claimants' failure to comply with arbitrator orders governing pleading requirements.
- Represented a national bank's auto lending division in a putative nationwide class action challenging the bank's administration of guaranteed asset/auto protection products. After obtaining dismissal of most of the plaintiffs' claims and compelling arbitration as to certain claims, we negotiated a favorable settlement.
- Obtained the dismissal of putative class action claims against a major national bank relating to allegedly unpaid refunds of guaranteed auto/asset protection products following repossession.
- Represented a national bank in connection with one of the largest consent orders in CFPB history involving numerous aspects of the bank's auto lending business.
- Successfully resolved a CFPB enforcement action against a mortgage lender involving RESPA claims.
- Represented a national bank in a $575 million settlement of a multistate attorney general investigation involving all 50 states and the District of Columbia.
- Represented a national bank in class action litigation concerning CARES Act mortgage forbearances during the COVID-19 crisis.
- Successfully resolved litigation brought by a state attorney general against a national bank over alleged failure to comply with consumer protection laws in connection with foreclosure and mortgage loan modification practices.
- Advised multiple banking clients concerning state-law compliance obligations across multiple business lines.
- Served as lead trial counsel for the world's largest contract food service company in a contentious protest of a multimillion-dollar food services contract; obtained judgment in favor of our client following a bench trial.
- Successfully resolved multiple lawsuits against an Alaskan Native Regional Corporation-owned general contractor relating to a troubled Marine Corps construction project.
