OVERVIEW

Kaitlin is a litigator who focuses primarily on commercial litigation in state and federal courts throughout the U.S. She handles all aspects of discovery, pre-litigation motions, trial preparation, and other needs in connection with disputes involving antitrust, product liability, class action litigation, and international arbitration. With a diverse client base, she represents companies in the real estate, health care, pharmaceutical, insurance, and construction industry sectors, among others.

In her pro bono practice, Kaitlin represents clients in name changes and in immigration matters, including asylum seekers and those seeking withholding of removal at different levels throughout the immigration process, including at the application stage, and in Immigration Court and Board of Immigration Appeals.

Before entering the practice of law, Kaitlin served as a paralegal in a boutique litigation firm. She supported cases involving medical malpractice, wrongful death, product liability, and other disputes.
