Maureen has 20 years of experience serving as bond counsel to municipalities in connection with the issuance of competitive and negotiated bonds and bond anticipation notes.

OVERVIEW

Maureen works in the firm's Public Finance practice, where she concentrates on municipal bond law with decades of experience serving as bond counsel to cities, towns, and districts, primarily in New England. She represents municipalities in connection with both competitive and negotiated general obligation bonds and bond anticipation notes, reviewing borrowing authorizations for compliance with local, state, and federal law, preparing closing documents, and reviewing disclosure materials. Maureen also has experience guiding municipalities through financings structured through the Massachusetts Clean Water Trust and the Massachusetts Water Resource Authority, helping communities fund water, sewer, and other critical public infrastructure projects. Maureen is part of a bond counsel team that Chambers and Best Lawyers consistently rank among the top public finance practices in Massachusetts and nationally.
