OVERVIEW

Taylor defends financial services companies in complex cases involving state and federal consumer protection laws. Her experience covers all phases of litigation, including case assessments, depositions, discovery, dispositive motions, hearings, and mediations. Taylor's appellate work includes representing financial services companies before the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals and Texas courts of appeal.

In addition to her litigation and appellate work, Taylor advises financial institutions on regulatory and compliance matters, and licensing issues. She has played a key role in defending clients in regulatory investigations and litigation brought by governmental agencies. Taylor is also experienced defending a mortgage servicer in trade secret litigation and arbitration, and has contributed to the development of data privacy solutions to ensure compliance with evolving laws and regulations.
