Through a client-focused approach and strategic advice tailored to each situation, Tom helps financial services clients solve their most difficult legal problems when facing high-stakes litigation and government investigations.

OVERVIEW

Tom represents clients in complex financial services litigation, class action lawsuits, and general commercial litigation. He has a wealth of experience in handling federal and state governmental and regulatory investigations, as well as internal whistleblower investigations. Tom frequently defends clients in significant nationwide and state class actions, particularly those involving financial services practices, mortgage servicing issues, and consumer protection laws, such as RESPA, FDCPA, TILA, and SCRA.

Tom's clients include national mortgage servicers, banks, automobile dealers, and health care organizations. He represents these clients in complex cases involving commercial disputes, consumer class actions, trade secrets, fraud, and constitutional law.

Tom chairs the firm's Financial Services Department and is a member of the firm's Executive Committee.

REPRESENTATIVE MATTERS

Financial Services Litigation

- Representing a national mortgage servicer in a False Claims Act case alleging that the servicer falsely certified its compliance with various federal and state laws to induce Fannie Mae to execute a servicer participation agreement and amended servicer participation agreement so that they could participate in the Home Affordable Modification Program (HAMP).
- Represented a national mortgage servicer in a putative class action alleging violation of the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (SCRA) based on how the defendants allegedly conducted foreclosure proceedings under Louisiana law. The federal district court dismissed the claims.
- Represented multiple mortgage servicing companies in cases throughout the U.S. in cases alleging improper mortgage servicing practices in class actions, mass actions, and investigations.
- Represented a nationwide mortgage servicer in defense of claims against a hedge fund related to securitized trusts.
- Represented a national mortgage company in purported class action claims involving the Real Estate

Settlement Procedures Act and the unauthorized practice of law. The U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit reversed the certification orders.

- Represented a national mortgage company in purported class action claims involving mortgage and pool insurance. The district court granted the mortgage company's motion to dismiss, and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit affirmed.

Constitutional Law

- Representing an intervenor association in support of the state of Texas in a constitutional challenge to automobile dealer franchise laws.
- Represented intervenor associations in support of the state of Texas in a constitutional challenge to a state statute prohibiting insurance company ownership of body shops. After a seven-day trial, the trial court found that the statute did not violate the Commerce Clause, and the Fifth Circuit affirmed.
- Represented intervenor associations in support of the state of Texas in a constitutional challenge to the state Blue Law relating to vehicle sales. After a four-day trial, the trial court declared the Blue Law constitutional. The plaintiffs appealed but subsequently dismissed their appeal.

Class Actions

- Represented multiple banks and mortgage servicers in nationwide challenges to banking and mortgage servicing practices.
- Represented a regional tollway authority in defending a multimillion-dollar putative class action relating to alleged improper and excessive administrative fees.
- Represented a nationwide retailer in a putative nationwide consumer rebate class action in St. Clair County, IL. The trial court denied class certification, and the plaintiff dismissed the case.
- Represented automobile dealers in a purported class action involving financing. After a week-long jury trial, the jury rendered a defense verdict. The trial court then certified the case as a class action, and the Texas Court of Appeals reversed the certification.
