Tom focuses his practice on defending companies in class action and other high-stakes litigation matters. He represents clients facing significant litigation exposure in state and federal courts across the United States.

OVERVIEW

Tom represents clients across various industries, including banking, financial services, retail, technology, cosmetics, and food and beverage, in consumer-related class action litigation in both state and federal courts. Tom's practice frequently involves managing cases of consumer fraud and issues under numerous state and federal consumer protection and false advertising statutes.

Tom has extensive trial experience and an ability to effectively argue before appellate courts. His practice includes defending major national class action lawsuits involving state unfair and deceptive trade practices statutes, such as California's Unfair Competition Law (UCL), Invasion of Privacy Act (CIPA), and False Advertising Law, Florida's Consumer Collection Practices Act (FCCPA), and Illinois' Consumer Fraud Act (ICFA), as well as federal statutes, including the Truth in Lending Act (TILA), Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act (RESPA), Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), Fair Debt Collection Practices Act (FDCPA), and Telephone Consumer Protection Act (TCPA). Tom is known for obtaining dismissals in these challenging cases and resolving them on a class-wide basis when necessary.

Tom has a deep understanding of consumer protection laws and utilizes a strategic approach to litigation, which often leads to outcomes without the need for protracted court battles. His experience helps clients navigate complex litigation landscapes confidently, preventing costly repercussions and achieving their business objectives.
